Experiencing God's Favor by Living by Faith

Merry Christmas to all of you! It has been an incredible year for me. I stood and believed God and hung on for several years to get moved to Branson, MO. Thank you, God! It was the hardest move I have ever made, emotionally and spiritually. In the midst of that, I lost a friend of 30 years, which was devastating. As you know, I am an overcomer. Through this transition, when I got discouraged and frustrated, I heard God's voice say, "Do you trust me?" My answer was, "Yes, sir!" I have stood on faith as long as I can ever remember. I have hung on like a bulldog. I believed it and spoke it, and now it has happened. It can happen for you, too. I live by faith, not by sight. Some things may seem unrealistic, but with God, nothing is impossible. All of this was prophesied years ago, and now I am seeing it come to pass.

I finally have a guest room! My first guest was my friend, Kim. We have known each other since we were eight-year-olds. I have had lots of fun decorating for Christmas.

I have experienced God's favor in all things. He has blessed me beyond measure. Not just with wonderful neighbors, but with people who have reached out to me in the community. They have included me in activities, especially the Christmas things going on here in town. I haven't done Christmas activities in years. I have five events to go to before Christmas! I found a quaint, loving church where the people reach out, hug you, introduce themselves to you, and make you feel a part of the church and family. That has always been my desire. One thing I am really excited about and that I have prayed for is to be a part of a ladies' group. I get together with the ladies on Thursdays. They crochet and quilt. The best part is, they let me be me. Everybody here lets me be me. I praise the Lord for that. Psalm 90:17

The secret for God's favor and His blessing is to pray in the Spirit, press into God, and absorb yourself in His Word. The closer you get to Him, the closer He gets to you. Remember, it is so simple - talking to God like you are talking to a person. He always listens. Remember, He is always there for you no matter what. Psalm 5:12

Some of my goals for the coming year: By March, I would like to have my brochures updated, my business cards done, and the plaque created to hang on the wall. The plaque will be to honor those who helped make this dream come true. I hope to have more speaking engagements in various places around the country and on television. I prayerfully will also have some preaching engagements soon. I am standing and believing in God for a helper to assist me with cutting fabric and labeling quilts. I am totally unpacked. I just need to get my pictures on the wall, and then I am good to go! I am looking forward to celebrating America's 250th birthday this next year, and I am still standing and believing to get to go to Washington D.C. to meet President Trump. I am also looking for a volunteer who is good at writing letters to help me with some important letters I need to do. I am standing and believing in God to have this house paid off in five years. I have no idea how God is going to do it, but it will be done. I also want to be used of the Lord to bless many people, praying for them and serving with them. James 2:17

For those asking what I want or need for Christmas, my wishlist is posted on my website www.theamazingquilter.com. Gift cards are also always needed and greatly appreciated!

I pray that you have a blessed holiday season. I look forward to hearing from you! Don't forget to reach out to those you may not have spoken with in a while over the holidays. Christmas is the season of giving and forgiving, the birth of Jesus. Reflect on how He came, His love for us, and how He gave His life for us. Philippians 4:7
